

Western Pennsylvania Youth Leadership Seminar 2004

Thursday, Oct. 23, 2004

To Whom It May Concern:

I've had the pleasure and honor to be associated with a leadership conference in Western Pennsylvania for the past 10 years, first with the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation for eight, and now with the Western Pennsylvania Youth Leadership for two. One of our challenges remains to find seminar presentations that send a very strong and inspirational message to our students. It is especially rare to find a presenter who can be viewed by the students as one of their peers and command instant attention and respect.

David Major provides that unique blend of magic.

David served as the opening speaker for our 2003 seminar and provided an incredible jump-start to our program. His unique and interactive style captured our students' attention from his opening words to an inspirational closing. David is someone who commands attention, and yet, relates to our young people because he is one of them.

We ask our students who attend the seminar, alumni and adult volunteers to evaluate our program at its close. David's presentation received the highest rating and recommendation. We are excited for David to return as our opening presenter for the May, 2004 seminar and hope he will remain a part of our seminar program for years to come.

David has a unique talent, and a passion to make a difference. He has already demonstrated in our little corner of the world that he can do just that. He can also do that for your conference.

Sincerely,

Thomas J. Rose
