To whom it may concern,

David Major, a dynamic motivational speaker recently spoke at SHOUT 2002 and FIESTA 2003 held by the Central-Metro West region of the OSSSA and inspired over 150 students from across the Peel and York regions of Ontario. David was apart of his SAC/YRPC for 4 consecutive years and apart of the OSSSA for 2 years. He is presently at the University of Western Ontario completing his honours in both political science and history.

David Major spoke with total confidence with the addition of humour as he captured the attention of 300 students for an hour long motivational speech. The underlying theme of "Motivate Yourself," I found very useful for students at this age to hear because I do not believe all students are able to motivate themselves and all need that little push. The issues that David spoke about were very relevant to teenagers of today's society which I thought made the presentation even more realistic to pursue.

As the Minister of Events and Initiatives for CMW and hearing many speakers in the past, I must say that David Major is unlike many speakers I have heard in the past, as he has created a whole new kind of speech and does not follow tradition.

I gladly recommend David for any conference, school presentation or future event and if you wish to discuss him, please do not hesitate to contact me,

Yours in Leadership,
